Western Landcare Representative awarded Life Membership with Landcare NSW

Western Landcare region representative, Stuart Mosely, was the recipient of the Landcare NSW Honorary Lifetime Member Award at the 2020 AGM.

Landcare NSW Chair, Stephanie Cameron praised Stuart and his commitment to Landcare on all levels including local, regional and state.

“Since 2015 when he joined, Stuart has given a great deal of his time to Landcare NSW and has been in numerous Executive Committee positions over the years and has only just stood down after two years as secretary.

“Stuart has held executive positions on the Western Landcare NSW committee for several years and has guided Landcare in the west for many years towards becoming a strong and healthy Landcare region.

“His passion for Landcare extended to being a representative of NSW Landcare on the National Landcare Network (NLN) Council.

He is a founding member of the Buckwaroon Catchment Landcare Group and was instrumental in policy reform to the NSW Native Vegetation Act.

Executive Officer for Western Landcare, Louise Turner, said Stuart’s work in supporting and the representing Western Landcare has been crucial in ensuring that the voice of Landcare in the Western region is heard.

“The contribution Stuart has made to all levels of Landcare is extensive. We are so pleased to share these contributions and the impact they have had to the Western Landcare community,” Louise said.
